"We will praise
your name
forever."
