

Your sibling dropped a dish on the ground and they blamed it on you.

Actors: You, parent, sibling

Someone keeps stealing your pencil crayons at school.

Actors: You, stealing classmate

You were promised a turn to play a game at recess, but the bell rang and now it's too late.

Actors:
You, friend who promised, friend who took your turn

Somebody eats the last cookie before you've even had one!

Actors: You, parent, person who ate the last cookie

Someone cheated in your game of Monopoly, and it made you lose!

Actors:
You, cheater, another player

Someone spoiled the end of the movie you were watching.

Actors:
You, spoiler, other angry friend

You did all the work in a group project, but your teacher gives someone else the credit for it.

Actors:

You, teacher, classmate who didn't do the work but got the credit

Someone calls you an awful name at school.

Actors: You, kid who called you something horrible (for the purpose of this, let's say they called you "Kevin!" and that was really insulting)

People keep butting in front of you in line.

Actors: You, plus 3-5 kids who keep butting in front of you in line one at a time

You don't like the meal you're eating for dinner.

Actors: You, your grandma who made the meal, your uncle

You slammed your hand in a door. You're so practiced at gentle words that you...

Actors: You

Someone at school hid one of your shoes and you might miss the bus if you don't hurry.

Actors:

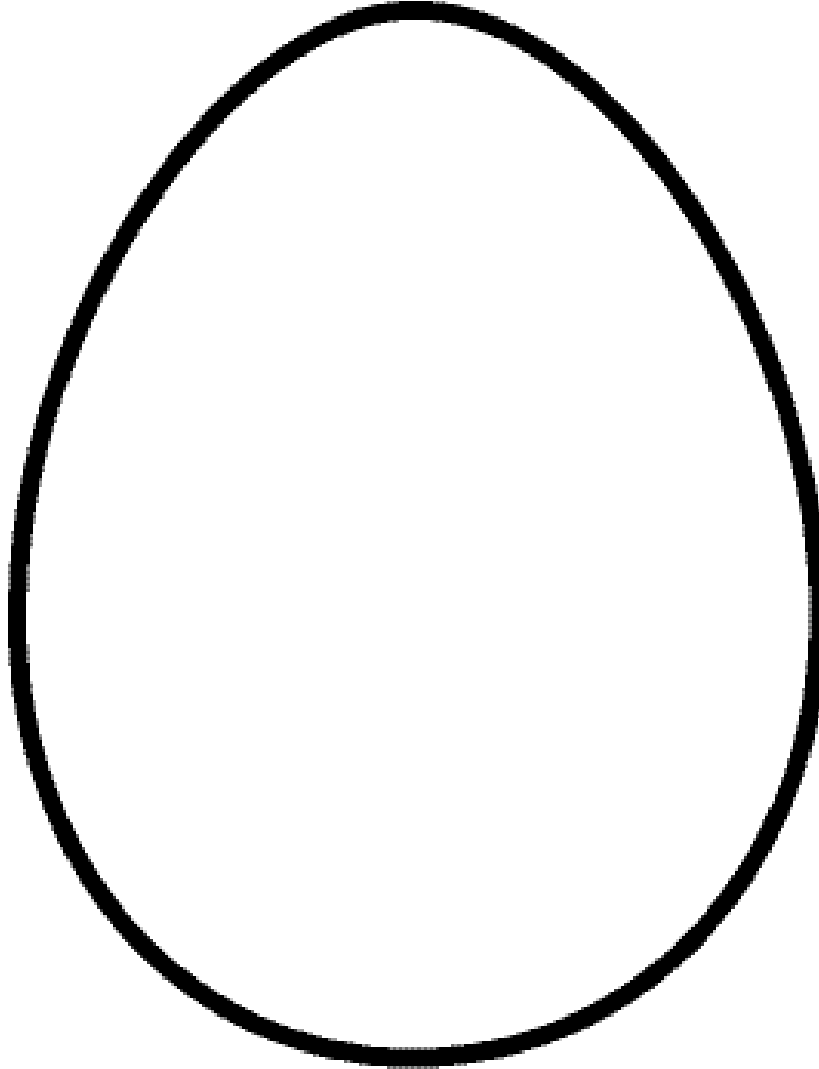

You, two school mates, teacher

Egg Prayer

We can show God's love with gentle words.

Dear God,

In the same way I need to be gentle with something fragile like an egg, help me to be gentle with my words with other people. Help me be gentle with my words when I talk to (write the names of different people you know):

"A gentle answer turns anger away. But mean words stir up anger. The tongues of wise people use knowledge well. But the mouths of foolish people pour out foolish words. The eyes of the Lord are everywhere. They watch those who are evil and those who are good. A tongue that calms is like a tree of life. But a tongue that tells lies produces a broken spirit." Proverbs 15:1-4