

God helps us love our enemies.

A kid is walking down the hall at school carrying books when a bully knocks them out of his hand, laughs and keeps going.

How should the first kid show love to the bully?

A kid is getting ready to enjoy a popsicle when his little sibling comes running by and knocks it onto the ground.

How should the kid respond to his sibling?

A kid is sitting in the lunch room while a couple of others are sitting at a table not too far away, talking about her.

How should the first kid respond to the mean kids?

Two kids are having a conversation. One kid brings up Jesus, and the second kid says Jesus is not real. He says he believes in Allah.

How should the first kid respond?

We can love difficult people by...
